

The Solar System of Vor in the year 31 A.I. is a dangerous place for a woman. Before, there was once a clear division between Human and Alien territory. Disputes and wars had long been the standard of interaction between the numerous Alien species and the human race. But now, a subversion within the leadership of Humanity threatens to destabilize their own future.

Both the rise of Alien Sympathizers in humanity and the advancement of “Alien Agreeableness” have opened two of the three Human Homeworlds to the system wide “Alien Integration Act”. This decree ruled that Planet Repta and Planet Carinthia would open their citizenry to allow aliens of all shapes and sizes to become members of the Human Nations. A notion that originated and was promulgated from the upper class of planet Aphradesia, conveniently exempted from their own legislation.

The legislation took hold in every high minded idealist imaginable. Each convinced that removing borders and becoming one singular system would end all conflict and war. However, despite their best efforts to welcome and integrate the aliens, it simply brought the fight right into their neighborhoods instead of some distant battlefield. The Outer World’s worst deemed the AIC a golden opportunity. Criminals and predators were delivered into the Human Homeworlds like piranha in a pool. With Planet Repta receiving the brunt of the invasions.

The legislation that allowed such chaos was urgently requested to be repealed. But now, the naturalized Aliens who were given deciding votes themselves have gridlocked the repeal. However, not all was lost. Where bad legislation won, so did good legislation.

A task force was granted authority to form. An all female Interplanetary Law Enforcement Agency known as the Space Cadets were funded and put into action. Their mission: to protect humanity from the Outer World’s Worst inside the parameters of the AIC. Although the new group of dedicated Cadets had a large learning curve to overcome, they have proven themselves capable enough to make a difference.

This story follows the exploits of Humanity's finest female officer,
Captain Kelly Kemper.

Born and raised on Repta, her colorful upbringing during Humanity's chaotic reformation molded her into a resolute enforcer of the law.

Captain Kelly's unit is only second largest on Repta but the most successful in the entire System. And all because of her. The tasks she faces are monumental, but Humanity's best have placed their faith in her. She is determined to restore order to her home and save all women from the jaws of the Outer World's Worst.
