

Hyper Puberty

Phen (2009)

Boring. Lecture.

The seconds ticked by oh-so slowly, time seemingly grinding to a halt in the face of the chemistry lecture, as if the old man in front of the blackboard was some kind of wizard, controlling the flow of time with his bare fists and words.

Phen leaned back, rubbing her eyes. Imidazole, you say. How interesting. And pyrimidine, too? Oh no, thank you very much, I'm driving.

The red-feathered phoenix, in a mindless search for something better to devote her thoughts to, looked down over herself. Heh, wouldn't it be fun if...

Her pants were bulging. Being a herm, this wasn't exactly something new, but this was different. More serious. So serious, in fact, that after just a few moments her zipper tore itself open and out flopped a two-foot flaccid black cock, right onto what went for a small table in the auditorium. A guy next to her opened his eyes wide, but she didn't really care. This was more interesting. He did seem more appreciative when her t-shirt next gave up, beginning to rip and tear in places as her feathery bust struggled to get loose.

"Ooooh." The avian watched gleefully as her body continued swelling, the remains of her pants beginning to get tight around her ass. She didn't bother pulling them off, though, confident in her ability to shred them completely. Her thoughts were reinforced as her perky tits finally made their grand escape from her t-shirt, tearing loudly through the cloth and wobbling as the basketball-sized orbs settled in front of her. The bird began to play with her nipples and cooed in a delighted voice as she saw her black cock expand past four feet long, still mostly limp. It slouched over her table and down to the person in front of her, who looked up with a rather surprised expression as that massive member landed on her shoulder.

Phen just smiled at her and watched, thoroughly amused, as the massive fuckrod continued onwards to the next row as more and more inches were being added to the incredible length at an increasing pace. The avian let out a gasp of delight as her pants finally gave away, a much larger, curvy ass fully out in the open and pressing to the sides of her wooden seat, which began to creak underneath the weight.

It was a struggle to fit such a magnificent ass in a small, old seat and the size of her expanding balls wasn't making it any easier. Moments later the sound of cracking wood was heard, albeit muffled underneath her large, feathery attributes, and the students on either side retreated as she spread her legs to accommodate the beanbag-chair sized balls.

Commotion were breaking out here and there as pockets of people began to notice the swelling hermaphrodite, although no one really managed to accomplish anything, half of them getting stuck as they tried to get away while the others moved attempted to get closer for a better look.

The focus of the attention didn't care about all that. She squeezed and kneaded her vast erogenous zones, squealing happily as the situation escalated further when her body decided to gift her with another two sets of cocks, which grew rapidly to catch up with the first. Trouble was, they didn't slow down that much when they reached the 15 foot long cock, instead coaxing it to grow along at a faster pace and finally slapping down on the auditorium floor.

To no one's great surprise, however, the professor was scribbling merrily away on the blackboard, completely oblivious to anything outside the exciting world of organic chemistry. That is, until a very real force shifted his attention to three enormous black cockheads trapping him against the wall. They were wider than he was tall, but due to the elevation of the seats he was able to trace them back to the source, a red-feathered mass of spheres, body obscured behind the nearly car-sized tits, while her limbs were sliding in and out of sight as they feverishly caressed the six similarly sized testicles.

Then everything went white with a thundering SPLOOOSH.