

The Battle of Fire & Sperm

MIROV

3000 years ago, the Horseman empire was ruled by the great Emperor Atlas, a 4-armed, white Horseman with gray hair.

Atlas was 7 meters tall, but what caught the eye in his body was his 100-inch cock. That piece of meat was always wet, pulsing, and it took weeks of non-stop fucking. Atlas was a great symbol of power for all Horseman.

When a creature becomes too powerful, the gods take it to the Celestial Realm, and soon, Atlas would be summoned to the Celestial Realm.

The gods don't like the idea of very powerful creatures sharing the same land with creatures that can't defend themselves. So, the gods created the Celestial Realm, a spirit realm where powerful and honorable creatures can live without harming the lives of lesser creatures

Before ascending to the Celestial Realm, Atlas needed to choose which of his 11 sons could rule the Horseman empire in his stead. As a way of testing his sons' power and intelligence, Atlas ordered them to bring him a gift for the Emperor of the Horseman.

The one with the best gift would be the newest heir to the Horseman Empire.

One night, Atlas' youngest son found a sorcerer lost in the woods near the Horseman empire.

The sorcerer was about 35 years old, with very soft flesh, body hair, brown skin and wearing a short blue sorcerer's uniform. On her nipples were two heavy, thick metal rings.

The sorcerer was called Marck and he was very tired cause he had run away from a group of Orcs. Marck was weak and needed more mana to create a portal and return to the Magic Academy.

> Marck: I was gathering medicinal herbs near the Magic Academy when something hit my head. Then I woke up to a tribe of Orcs, they had tied me up with vines and were sucking my ass. I escaped using magic, but I don't have enough mana to return to the Academy.

Then Atlas' son offered to help, but on one condition. Marck was supposed to show the perfect gift to the Emperor of the Horseman. So, the sorcerer used the mana he had left to show the son of Atlas what his father's greatest wish was, and then in a circle of mana, the image of a fiery Elementurry appeared.

Elementurry are magical creatures that have infinite mana and live in different biomes. Currently, there are 6 types of Elementurry: Fire, Earth, Water, Air, Electricity and Ice.

The creature that revealed itself in the mana circle was a fiery Elementurrgy. Usually these creatures have a human body and a Pitbull head, some parts of their body are made of rock and fire.

After discovering his father's wish, the son of Atlas guided the sorcerer through the trees. The sorcerer was extremely tired and couldn't wait to get to the Horseman Emperor's Castle and rest, and would soon return to the Magic Academy.

- > Marck: How long will it take to get to the Castle?
- > Son of Atlas: What do you study at the Magic Academy? Like, how is it possible that a sorcerer over 30 doesn't know that the Horseman and the Orcs have an allegiance agreement? Dumb sorcerer. NOW!!

Suddenly, several Orcs jumped out of the bushes and arrested the sorcerer.

While Marck was being held, some Orcs were sucking his ass, others sucking his nipples and weaving their tongues between the metal rings.

The hunger of those creatures was frightening. The sorcerer knew about the Orcs and their giant cocks adapted to make any creature go mad with pleasure and feel the most absurd horny of existence and he knew that the Orcs would never let him go back to the Magic Academy.

After finishing counting the money, Atlas' son walked away and whistled, while the sorcerer shouted words of revenge that were easily erased by the hungry orcs' promises that said: "I'm going to extract mana from this sorcerer with my dick" - "I'm going to eat this gluttonous ass for 4 days" - "I'm going to do a double penetration on the sorcerer with my father".

After walking for days, the son of Atlas no longer remembered the sorcerer and was already approaching the volcanoes. Soon, he would bring his father a fiery Elementurry and be named the newest Emperor of the Horseman.

After arriving in the volcanic areas, it didn't take long to find the first Fire Elementurry. The creature had a pitbull's head with flaming eyes. Her breasts spurted lava and her skin had lines of fire.

The creature was much taller than the son of Atlas, had thick legs and very round chests.

The horseman knew that it would be impossible to win a battle with that creature, so Atlas' son started a conversation with the creature.

> Son of Atlas: I was sent by the Emperor of the Horseman to create a non-aggression treaty between the Horseman and the Fire Elementurry. To seal the pact, I summon your presence at the Emperor's castle.

The creature innocently accepted the proposal and followed him to the Horseman empire.

After entering the castle Atlas' son called his father. It was time to deliver the gift.

Atlas was impressed and horny. He had never seen such a delicious and tasty creature. Atlas' cock began to drool, veins began to appear with each pulse.

Everyone in the room could hear the sound of the penis pulsing.

> Atlas: Everyone leave the Hall!! Leave me alone with this fire creature!!

Two seconds after the hall door was closed, everyone near the castle could hear the sound of the fuck between the Horseman Emperor and the fiery Elementurry.

The sound of the White Horse's balls hitting the fiery Elementurry's ass.

The sound of the castle walls shaking, the smoke rising from all the castle windows symbolize the Emperor's sperm colliding with the Elementurry's lava.

The fuck between the two lasted an entire month and went down in history as "The War of Fire and Sperm".

After the end of a month the Emperor opened the doors of his Castle.

To everyone's surprise, the Elementurry was alive and stronger than ever, his body thicker, and more muscular. The fucking period was so strong that it changed the creature's anatomy.

The Emperor sent word to all the Horseman in the empire that he would make a very important announcement at nightfall. After much drinking and partying, the Emperor made his announcement.

"Horseman of all ages!! For years I have served you. I have given strength, allies, wars, drinks, food and everything you asked of me!! But after serving people as powerful as you, I was summoned to the Celestial Kingdom !! My days with you have come to an end. Today, at sunrise, I will leave. But don't worry, I will not leave you helpless.

Because you all will have a Horseman as strong as I. Today I, known to all as the white knight, I declare my youngest son Emperor of the Horseman!! From now on, you will be led by Korgul"

Elementurry

Marck

The White Knight

Young

Korgul

